Group 4 Paper Prototype

Meeting notes:

- Potential areas of design:
 - Login page
 - Dashboard when you first log in
 - Maybe only profile info here
 - Have something with rewards points
 - Have something for sponsors
 - Maybe creating account?
- Study tasks:
 - Log in
 - Sign up
 - Checking how many days/how long since last use
 - Checking reward points
 - Using these points
 - Getting alerts from sponsors
 - What happens when you use and app notices

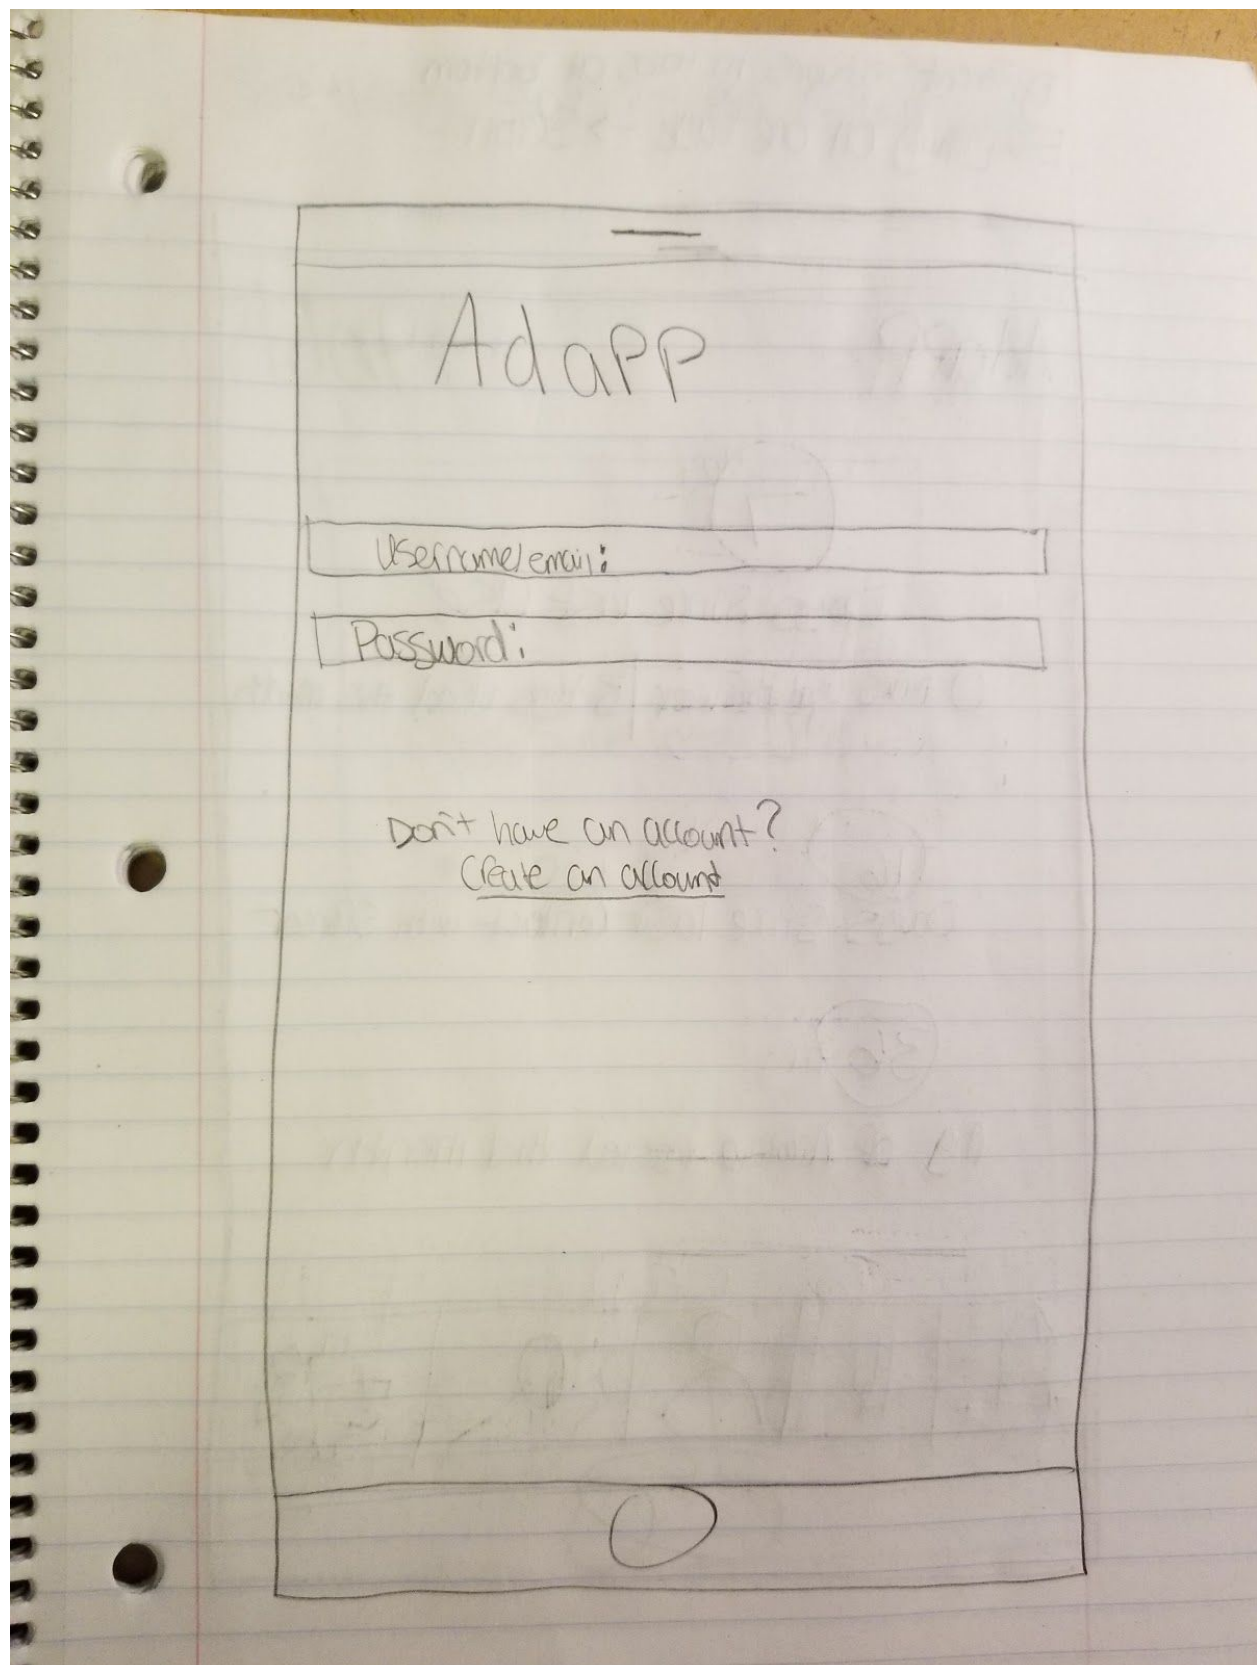

3 Critical Areas of Design:

1. Dashboard/profile stats.
 - a. This could be the first page a user sees when the app is opened. It could include number of days in a row without use of a substance, the number of “reward points” earned, and more.
2. Sponsor management page
 - a. This page could be used to add or edit any sponsors of the addict.
3. Reward points page
 - a. This will be the page where users can redeem their reward points for coupons and other gifts.

Study tasks:

1. As an addict, you feel like you are doing well on the road to recovery, but you cannot remember the last time you smoked. Use the app to find out how many days you have been sober.
2. You have just downloaded the app. Open the app and create your account and enter your personal information.
3. You started working with a new therapist today. Add that therapist and their information to your sponsors.
4. You’ve been clean for a week! Use the reward points you’ve earned to redeem a coupon to your favorite burger place.
